MEDIA ADVISORY

State to demonstrate Mobile Air Monitoring Lab at UNO

What: The Department of Environmental Quality will introduce its new Mobile Air Monitoring Laboratory to the New Orleans area. The MAML is a 2006 Winnebago that has been equipped with state-of-the art monitoring equipment.

When: 9-10 a.m., Wed., Oct. 18.

Where: University of New Orleans
Human Performance Center parking lot located at the intersection of Elysian Fields Ave and Leon C. Simon Blvd.

Why: The MAML will help the department take air samples throughout the state and will be used to ensure the public that Louisiana meets all state and federal air quality standards.
