

On Nov. 24, the Department of Environmental Quality received a letter from the Administrator of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Lisa Jackson, concerning the federal stimulus package and the status of the loans to be awarded.

In a response to the Administrator, DEQ outlined the department's status on issuing loans and its plan to best use the stimulus money to protect human health and the environment.

Both letters are available at www.deq.louisiana.gov.